

Six Senses Bhutan (300 words)

Six Senses Bhutan will move you – to pause and think. This colorful Himalayan Kingdom lives by its ethos of gross national happiness. Journey through the vertiginous scenery of the western and central valleys, and you can't help but find meaningful and uplifting experiences at every turn. That's why our guest suites are distributed between five intimate lodges. Each has a unique character and all embrace our Six Senses guiding principles, which include a Six Senses Spa and Wellness Center, mindful eating, sleep and self-discovery. Visit one, or any combination, and immerse yourself in Bhutan's spirituality, heritage and hospitality.

Thimphu: Situated within apple orchards and pine forests, yet still within reach of the capital's attractions, Six Senses Thimphu is perched on an auspicious hillside overlooking the shimmering lights of Thimphu. With its grand design and outdoor ponds reflecting the sky above, this is our very own Palace in the Sky, with banquet facilities for 60 guests, pool, prayer pavilion, business center and sunken outdoor performance deck.

Punakha: The Flying Farmhouse amidst the rice fields, this beautiful lodge has a rustic feel and is blessed with a warmer climate. You'll find a choice of suites and villas, pool, library, yoga and meditation huts, and from here you can visit one of the highlights: the majestic Punakha Dzong.

Gangtey: Known as the Traditional Birdwatching Bridge, this lodge is indeed strategically positioned to showcase a 180-degree view of the little-visited Phobjikha Valley, home to the fascinating black necked cranes.

Bumthang: Carefully built as a Forest within a Forest, this is an auspicious base from which you can take in hallowed monuments, monasteries and winter festivals. If you're looking for peace, come on in.

Paro: Designed to maximize what is surely one of the most scenic settings within the Six Senses Bhutan journey, this lodge is known as Stone Ruins – you'll understand why when you dine among them!
